If you are a customer of ours or act on behalf of a customer of ours, we will contact you with information relevant to the operation and maintenance of your account or the account of our customer with whom you are associated (including updated information about how we process your personal information), by a variety of means including post and/or telephone or other electronic communication approved by our communications policy. If you change your contact details at any point in the future, you should tell us promptly about those changes.

If false or inaccurate information is provided and/or fraud is identified or suspected, details will be passed to fraud prevention agencies. Law enforcement agencies and other organisations may access and use this information.

If we, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, we may refuse to provide the services and financing you have requested, or we may stop providing existing services to you.

A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies, and may result in others refusing to provide services, financing or employment to you. Fraud prevention agencies can hold your information for different periods of time, and if you are considered to pose a fraud or money laundering risk, your data can be held for up to six years. When fraud prevention agencies process your information, they do so on the basis that they have a legitimate interest in preventing fraud and money laundering, to verify identity and in order to protect their business and/or to comply with laws that apply to them.
